Dear MCSSSD Staff,

Welcome back to a new school year filled with excitement and new experiences! It is with great enthusiasm that myself and the administrative team extend our warmest greetings as we embark on another year of educating our students and fostering their skills at Mercer County Special Services School district.

Your dedication and passion for special education play a pivotal role in preparing our students for successful futures. As educators at a special services school, you hold the unique responsibility of nurturing our students' practical skills and providing them with the related services they need to grow and reach their fullest potential.

With your expertise, our students gain not only knowledge but also the confidence to pursue a life of fulfillment. Your guidance and mentorship are instrumental in helping them discover their strengths and passions, laying the foundation for meaningful life after graduation.

As we begin this new year, let us remember the impact we have on our students' lives. Your commitment to their growth and development sets the stage for their success, and we are grateful for your expertise and dedication.

In the coming months, let's continue to collaborate, innovate, and inspire. Your insights, creativity, and perseverance contribute to the vibrant educational environment that defines the Mercer County Special Services School District.

We look forward to welcoming you back on September 5th at our opening day presentation. Our goal is to make this year one of shared achievements, personal growth, and a collective commitment to excellence. Here's to another year of making a difference in the lives of our students and families!

Best regards,

Matthew C. Carey
